How to help:

Collection points are set up to help a House family who lost their home to a Dec. 18 fire.

Terrill and Shana Stowe and their two daughters were not harmed in the blaze, but lost most of their clothing, household items and memorabilia.

Accounts have been set up at American Heritage Bank in Clovis and Melrose and Citizens Bank in Tucumcari. The House Baptist Church is also accepting donations.

Two were charged for murder

□ A missing teen was found at the local Motel 6.

This is the first in a series of the top stories and photos published in the Quay County Sun in 2016:

Local losses

■ A house fire resulted in the death of Logan resident Billy E. Sparks, 92, on Feb. 19.

Reports said the fire followed a loud explosion at Sparks residence in the 500 block of Zuni in Logan.

Logan Volunteer Fire Department firefighters were dispatched at 11:25 a.m.

Logan Fire Chief Rex Stall said upon arrival, firefighters reported a residence fully engulfed by flames. It took 45 minutes to contain and extinguish the fire.

Stall said the cause of the explosion and the fire are still under investigation. He said it appears the source of the fire could have been the rekindling from an earlier controlled burn near the residence.

Stall said the last fatal fire in Logan occurred in May 2010 with a house fire resulting in the death of 77-year-old Dave Bryant.

■ Two Logan men died on Nov. 2 in a lone-vehicle rollover.

New Mexico State Police officials said Kevin Miller, 48, and Jason Gorham, 34, Quay County Undersheriff Dennis Garcia aids the New Mexico State Police Investigators at the scene of Anthony Gallegos' death on June 22 in Tucumcari. Two men were later charged in his death.

died at the scene.

Miller was the driver. Both victims were ejected from the vehicle.

The accident was reported about 7:30 p.m. at Williams Road near State Road 540.

"Officers indicated a vehicle was traveling northbound ... at what appeared to be a high rate of speed," state police said in a news release. "The vehicle lost control and exited the roadway, rolling numerous times."

■ Tucumcari City Commissioner John Mihm was found dead on Dec. 19 at his home.

At 10 a.m., police dispatchers received a call from employees at Buena Vista Labs stating that Mihm had not come to work, Deputy Police Chief Pete Rivera said.

Officers were dispatched to Mihm's residence on the 2500 block of South Fifth Street where they found Mihm's body in his vehicle in the garage next to the residence.

Rivera said the cause of death was unknown. An autopsy has been ordered, and New Mexico State Police are investigating.

School board incumbents unopposed

□ Write-in candidates must declare intent by 5 p.m. Jan. 3.

STAFF REPORT

All of the incumbent candidates in the 2017 Quay County school board elections will run unopposed in the February election.

Filing day for the school board elections was Tuesday in the Quay County Courthouse.

A resident of the school district must register with the Quay County or Harding County Clerk's Office by 5 p.m. Jan. 10. in order to vote in this election, according to Quay County Clerk-elect Ellen White.

White said a declaration of intent to be a write-in candidate must be filed before 5 p.m. Jan. 3 at the Quay County Clerk's Office. She said early and absentee voting will begin on Jan. 13 and end on Feb. 3. Election day is Feb. 7.

Logan, San Jon and House school districts will have a 2-MILL ($2) capital improvements tax question up for approval on the ballot. The question is for the authorization for the state of New Mexico to impose a property tax of $2 on each $1,000 of net taxable value of property allocated to the districts from 2017-2022. The money will be used to pay for capital improvements including the erecting, remodeling, addition, maintenance and purchasing to improve public school grounds.

Logan Municipal School District in both Quay and Harding counties will also vote on a general obligation bond question for a principal amount not exceeding $1 million. Those funds will be used for the purchase of computer software and hardware for student use in the public school and provide matching funds for the erecting, remodeling, addition, maintenance and purchasing to improve public school grounds.

Fast facts

The following are the candidates running for a four-year school board term beginning on March 1:

- Cynthia K. Lee

Detention officer inspired to be good father

Editor's note: This is part of a weekly series of introductions to our neighbors in Quay County.

What is your idea of a perfect day?

Spending time doing something fun with my wife and kids.

What's your greatest fear?

Not necessarily dying, but people feeling sad over my death. The idea of people hurting because of me is what is scary to me.

What's on your bucket list?

I would love to tour the world.

Talk about a time you laughed.

As I was filling out this questionnaire, I had to stop and laugh at my wife and kids. They are crazy.

Talk about a time you cried.

When my son, Ethan, passed, I felt like a huge part of me went with him. The loss of a child is the worse experience a person can go through.

Talk about your hero.

My mother, Henrietta; she is such a rock. She raised four boys on her own. She is still there for us and her grandchildren with the loss of two husbands. Her love and strength is unwavering.

How many pair of shoes do you own? Why?

I have four pairs, because that's all I need.

Who's invited to your fantasy dinner party?

Luke Kuechly, because he is a great linebacker for the best team,

Carolina Panthers, and Stone Cold Steve Austin, because he seems like he would like to party and have fun.

What's something most people don't know about you?

I served in the United States Army for four years.

When you were a kid, what did you want to be when you grew up?

A soldier

DECEMBER 1969

■ Four armed robbers were captured by the New Mexico State Police and Quay County Sheriffs office for robbing the Cedar Hill Grocery store 16 miles east of Tucumcari.

The men pulled a razor on store owner Charlie Murrary and tied him to a bed in the back of the store. The four men took the cash from the register, two shotguns, two hand guns, silverware and stole Murrary's car.

They were spotted near the Caprock, where state police began to chase the stolen vehicle. The chase exceeded 100 miles per hour at times, but the four men were captured at a road block two miles north of Broadview that was set up by the state police out of Clovis.

The four suspects were taken to the Quay County jail to await arraignment.

Members of the Tucumcari Elementary ORFF Ensemble perform on Dec. 12 with assistant director Paul Gibson at Eastern New Mexico University at Portales.

Elementary band plans music CDSTAFF REPORT

Following up a busy winter of performances, the Tucumcari Elementary's ORFF Ensemble band plans to record a music CD as their next project.

The ORFF Ensemble is comprised of students from the fourth and fifth grades who play on instruments made from recycled material, said Andrew Kesten, music/band director.

"These children have done an amazing job performing on the road and at home," Kesten said. "There is a lot of projects in the works that will add to the ensemble's musical performances."

Kesten said local artist

Rick Haymaker is going to assist the ensemble with the recording of the CD. He said the CD's playlist will be the musical tracks that the group has performed.

"The children are excited about the idea of making a CD," Kesten said, adding that the ensemble has performed four times this winter with three of those concerts in Tucumcari, including the Dec. 9 performance at the Tucumcari Train Depot. He said on Dec. 12, the children performed at Buchanan Hall at Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

"The children have put a lot of work into their performances," Kesten said.

Kesten said local artist

Assistant Director Paul Gibson has worked equally as hard to make the ensemble such a success."

Kesten said thanks to a $5,300 grant from the McMullin Foundation and matching funds from the school district, the ensemble will purchase nine marimbas. He said marimbas are traditional Zimbabwe percussion instruments consisting of a set of wooden bars struck with mallets, sending sound through resonator tubes.

Kesten said the marimbas will be built in Oregon and will have a different musical tone (soprano, alto, tenor and bass). He said the marimbas will not be completed until the spring.

"There is a possibility of the ensemble performing with the ENMU steel drum band using the marimbas," Kesten said.

The incidents for which he was charged occurred in February and March 2015, according to court records. McClelland was released after posting a $20,000 bond.

The charges involve prescriptions that were alleged to be improperly written for a member of McClelland's family, according to a statement of probable cause signed by Detective Charles Bouyer.

McClelland and his attorney, Nancy English, said the charges stemmed from a family dispute.

McClelland was sentenced to community service after reaching a plea agreement. Terms of the agreement will end no later than August 2018.

■ A 22-year-old Tucumcari man was arrested and charged with attempted first-degree murder on March 11, following an early morning shooting on the 900 block of East Rankin.

Raymond Chavez was charged with attempted first-degree murder, tampering with evidence, contribution to the delinquency of a minor and possession of drug paraphernalia.

At 3:38 a.m. March 11, officers responded to a call reporting a prowler on the 1000 block of East Hines, said Police Chief Jason Braziel, where officers discovered a male subject who had suffered a non-fatal gunshot wound. He was taken to Dan C. Trigg Memorial Hospital.

Braziel said through further investigation, officers determined that the shooting had occurred at a residence on the 900 block of East Rankin Avenue. The shooter was later identified as Chavez, who was arrested.

■ The Tucumcari Police Department investigated the death of Anthony Gallegos, whose body was found June 22 on West Sunset Avenue.

At the time of the incident, the cause of Gallegos' death was not released, according to Police Chief Jason Braziel.

Braziel said at 4:18 p.m. that day, officers responded to the report of a possible deceased person in the 700 block of West Sunset Avenue. Officers were able to identify Gallegos, whose body they discovered in an alley.

New Mexico State Police Criminal Investigations Bureau officials assisted the police department with processing of the crime scene and interviewing witnesses.

Timothy Skinner and Jerry Ingram were formally charged with Gallegos' death on Aug. 3.

Tim Rose, 10th Judicial district attorney, said a third person, Dominic Aragon, faces lesser charges in connection with the case.

Skinner, 21, has been charged with first-degree murder, bribery of a witness, tampering with evidence, abuse of a child, aggravated battery causing great bodily harm, shooting from or at a motor vehicle and aggravated assault with a deadly weapon.

Ingram, 20, has been charged with second-degree murder, bribery of a witness, tampering with evidence, abuse of a child and aggravated battery causing great bodily harm.

Aragon, 18, has been charged with bribery of a witness, tampering with evidence, abuse of a child and aggravated battery causing great bodily harm.

■ A missing teenager was found in the parking lot of Tucumcari's Motel 6 on Sept. 3 shortly after her stepmother was found dead in Kentucky.

Quay County police officers found Jenna Oakley, 15, Kenneth R. Nigh, 20, of Arlington, Indiana, who was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a minor. They were traveling in the dead woman's 2014 Honda Civic.

Neither Nigh nor Oakley were charged in connection with the death of Oakley's stepmother, Rhonda Oakley. Jenna Oakley was first reported missing while police were investigating her stepmother's death, said Kentucky Trooper Robert Purdy.

Purdy said at the time that the cause of Rhonda Oakley's death had not been released.

On Sept. 13, Nigh was airlifted to an Amarillo hospital after attempting to commit suicide while in the Quay County Detention Center.

Deputy Chief Peter Rivera said Nigh was alive, but no additional information about his current condition would be released.

Rivera said he could not comment on how Nigh was injured.

■ A standoff with police that lasted more than eight hours ended peacefully on the morning of Sept. 4 at a Tucumcari residence.

George Salaz, 37, and Regina Vargas, 34, of Tucumcari were arrested about 12:45 a.m.

Jason Braziel, Tucumcari's

chief of police, said at 2:47 p.m., officers responded to a report of a battery at the residence in the 1400 block of South Monroe where they found a man and two children.

He said when officers arrived, a woman told them she had been assaulted and that the man and a woman who assaulted her were inside the home.

Braziel said officers tried to make contact with the individuals, later identified as Salaz and Vargas, who declined to exit the residence. Both of the Tucumcari residents had multiple warrants for their arrest prior to the day's incident.

■ Operations at the U.S. Post Office and other offices in downtown Tucumcari were brought to a halt following two bomb threats within a week.

The threat on Sept. 26 was resolved quickly as city police, Quay County Sheriff Russell Shafer and postal officials cleared the building and found nothing suspicious, said Pete Rivera, Tucumcari's deputy police chief.

A similar threat on Sept. 21 shut down the post office most of the day as officials called in New Mexico State Police to ensure there were no explosive devices. No devices were found.

■ An 80-mile car chase from Amarillo to San Jon ended with a 33-year-old man shot in a gunfight with Texas state police officers on Oct. 24.

Mario Montes, the driver of the vehicle, was shot in the lower abdomen by a Texas Department of Public Safety trooper following the pursuit, officials said. He was shot after exiting the vehicle and running toward officers as he fired his handgun and striking an Amarillo Police Department vehicle.

Montes was airlifted to an Amarillo hospital where his condition was listed as critical but stable.

Officials said Montes and three other people were in a gray Ford SUV when an Amarillo police officer attempted to make a traffic stop about 4:30 a.m. (CDT) on Oct. 24. The SUV did not stop, and someone inside began firing at police and a chase ensued down several city blocks and onto Interstate 40.

No formal charges were filed at the time.

cer after an incident with an off-duty officer at the K-Bob's restaurant in Tucumcari.

Justin Fisher, 28, was accused of assaulting Tucumcari Police Officer Christopher Valdez, according to a criminal complaint by Officer Max Farren.

According to the complaint, at 9:27 p.m. Nov. 18, Farren was dispatched to K-Bob's in reference to an officer in distress call.

He arrived and found Valdez wounded in the parking lot of the restaurant with Valdez pointing at another male lying on the pavement.

Valdez told Farren that while he was eating at the restaurant, he was approached by the man later identified as Fisher.

He said he had a previous encounter with Fisher while he was on duty.

What Constitutes Worship?

Dear brother Clem: Some have taught that in order to worship we must eat the Lord's Supper, sing, teach, pray and contribute. That all of these must be done for it to constitute acceptable worship. Others say that every thing we do in service to God is worship. Would you please explain what constitutes worship? -F.H., TN"

Webster defines the verb, worship: "to adore, to pay divine honors to, to show reverence by performing acts adoration." The use of "worship" in the Scriptures shows the same basic meaning. When Abraham went up the mountain to offer Issac as a sacrifice, he called it worship (Gen. 22:5). When his servant, on his errand to find a wife for Issac, came to the house of Rebekah's family, "The man bowed his head, and worshipped Jehovah" (Gen. 24:26). Thus a prayer of praise was worship. Those that were crucifying Jesus sought to humiliate and degrade him, "And they smote his head with a reed, and spat upon him, and bowing their knees worshipped him" (Mark 15:19). They did it with mockery, but it was still called "worship." Thus, each of those acts in the question is worship, whether we do all of them or just one or two. When one praises God in song, that is worship. Prayer is worship, etc.

By definition, any "act of homage to God" is worship. That is, any act that has as its direct purpose to honor God. An act of kindness to a needy person is an act of service to God, but its primary purpose is to help that individual; thus, that act is not worship. We may run a business, work at a job, go to school, play at some sport—all of these things can involve our service to God. But they are not worship, because the primary purpose of them is not to glorify God. The end result may glorify Him, but the act itself is not designed to Glorify Him. So, not everything we do in life is worship. All of our "good works" may bring glory to God as an end result, but such works are not worship. That is, they are not done for the primary purpose of glorifying God.

Viewpoint

State must look at many options to battle deficit

When you are staring down the barrel of a $369 million budget deficit, it makes sense to sound the alarm early and often — and come up with a solvency plan ASAP.

That's been the modus operandi of Sen. John Arthur Smith, Deming Democrat, chairman of the Legislative Finance Committee, and state budget pragmatist since 1989. Smith said this month that "we've got to save money fast. If we can't get a consensus and find some corners that still have money in them, we're going to have to take drastic action."

Drastic as in furloughs for teachers and canceled school days.

A spokesman for Gov. Susana Martinez is calling Smith's warning "absurd" and "counterproductive." At least two lawmakers appear oblivious to the crisis and are instead renewing the call to expand government's already expanded early childhood programs (and thus recurring expenses) with another raid on the permanent fund that helps run public schools and hospitals.

But here's the thing: unfortunately, it appears Smith is right. The lowest-hanging savings fruit has already been plucked — remember just this past October lawmakers met in special session to scrape up $371 million via one-time fixes and spending cuts. That left an estimated $69 million deficit for the current fiscal year, even with all cash reserves used, and a $300 million shortfall for the budget year that kicks in July 1.

K-12 public education and higher education alone take up 57 percent of the budget. It's unlikely lawmakers can keep that, Medicaid (15 percent) and public safety (7 percent) safe from cuts and still balance the budget as required by the Constitution.

The state is in this fiscal nightmare because state revenues are down, in part because the government-dependent economy has never bounced back from the recession and sequestration and because oil and gas prices have plummeted. And that latter isn't just royalty money the state is out — previously high-performing sectors of the economy have been slammed by the fall.

With less money coming in, the governor has stuck to her vow of no new taxes — and she's right in the respect that the state certainly does not want to do anything to discourage employers from opening up shop/expanding, prospective employees from seeking a job and current employees from advancing.

But there are judicious tax increases that could be debated.

Raising the tax on liquor (last increased in 1993); on tobacco (the tax on cigarettes was increased in 2010 but, for other tobacco products, it has not changed in three decades); on food (the state repealed the tax on food in 2004, pushing local governments that relied on the income to increase taxes on other goods); and on gasoline (last increased in 1993) should be on the list.

New Mexico is $369 million short, and anyone who has had too much month at the end of the money knows responsible adults do not look around for more things to buy; they quickly figure out what they can afford, what they can economize on, what they can cut and how they might increase their take-home pay — before the late fees and shut-off penalties make a big debt a crushing one.

New year good time for reflection

Although the start of a new year is completely arbitrary, it's still a good time to reflect on the past year, and look toward the future.

Of course, any day is a perfect day for doing so.

Just remember: It's easy to look at the past and see only the good, or only the bad.

Every year holds both, just as does every era in history.

I understand people looking back at parts of their own life with nostalgia. I do it, too. "If only I could go back and ..." seems to be a universal human thought. Yet when I really think about it, I remember that, besides the parts I dream of reliving, there were things I am glad are over.

The same is true on a global scale.

Kent McManigal
◆ Local columnist

Many people seem to long for a return to a mythical "Golden Era" — a past where they imagine the things they miss now were commonplace. Those with nationalist sentiments want to go back to a time when America was great and was the undisputed Shining Light on a Hill. Those who focus more on the religious aspects may long for a time when everyone went to church several times each week, had similar morals, and at least claimed to value what is absent from modern society. Often, both are embodied in an idealized 1950s America.

Honestly, there was no "Golden Era" to return to. Some of the past was wonderful and worthy of emulating; some was horrible and needs to be condemned. You are better off copying the good things about the past, adding them to the good things about the present, and trying to come up with even better things in the future.

It's easy to forget the past was full of aggression, war, slavery, bigotry, and cruelty. So is today, but in most cases, even more of all those things existed in the past. You overlook the bad parts of those bygone times when you focus on what you don't like about the present.

In spite of the fear mongers, the world has — in general — never been less violent. It is getting better, in spite of the bad guys, and it will continue to do so. Don't let those who point out the exceptions cloud your perception of reality.

So, while it may be pointless to dream of returning to a golden past, let's all work on making the future a little more golden than today. Happy new year.

Antics against Trump intolerable

What is happening to the president elect of the United States is intolerable.

News articles and editorials from major publications are referring to Donald Trump as a "Russian puppet" or as "Putin's poodle." They are further implying that Trump "could have an incentive to allow or launch a 9/11-style attack on the United States once in office."

Editorial writer Paul Krugman has written that, "George W. Bush came into office with questions surrounding his legitimacy that were 'dispelled' by the Sept. 11 terrorist attacks." The insinuation that an American president would instigate a terrorist attack on our country borders on indicting him as a traitor, and is inexcusable.

The "so-called" paper of record, The New York Times, evidently endorses

Rube Render
◆ Local columnist

Krugman's viewpoint by allowing the outlandish slander to be published.

Former Secretary of Labor Robert Reich, on a Facebook post, has suggested a plan to torpedo the Trump inauguration that involves a televised "freedom concert" to air at the same time as the inauguration — with huge celebrities like Beyoncé and Jay Z, Madonna, Katy Perry, Justin Timberlake, Gaga, Bruce Springsteen, and so on.

Alec Baldwin MCs the event, playing Trump as he does on "Saturday Night Live."

Presto. The Trump inauguration loses all the TV ratings. Basically, no one watches it.

Reich purports to be something of a leader in the Democrat party and yet advocates for something this childish and mean spirited.

A "Women's March on Washington" scheduled to take place on Jan. 21, one day after the Trump inauguration, has attracted Amnesty International USA as a co-sponsor. According to event organizers, this affair is said to have as many as 150,000 people RSVP-ing to attend and several hundred thousand more indicating they are interested in attending.

Two caveats to the above numbers are that re-counts in three states were going to show Hillary gaining votes, and the Electoral College vote would indicate enough "faithless electors" to tip the election to Clinton. Neither of these actions occurred.

All of this before Trump is inaugurated. Imagine what would have happened if the above events were orchestrated for the Obama inauguration.

I am ashamed to write this, but the only other time in my adult life that I witnessed anything remotely resembling what is happening to Donald Trump was after an election in Clovis. When David Lansford was elected mayor for the second time, there was a move to recall him before he had even dropped the gavel.

IN APPRECIATION

The Adopt-a-Cop program presented members of various law enforcement agencies in Quay County with a gift of appreciation on Dec. 20 at the Quay County Courthouse. The group collected $700 in donations from various businesses and residents to purchase the 65 gifts for the officers.

Setting it Straight

A story in the Dec. 21 paper about Dan C. Trigg Memorial Hospital contained incorrect information.

The corporation that owns the hospital is called Presbyterian Healthcare Services and the name of the chief operating officer is Clay Holderman.

The Quay County Sun endeavors to accurately report local news events. Errors of fact will be corrected in a timely and appropriate manner. Please notify Senior Writer Thomas Garcia of errors by calling 575-461-1952.

Neighbor

Put some away for the kids, help out my family and use the rest to pay off bills and take a nice vacation.

What is your most prized possession?

The Carolina Panthers golf bag I got for Christmas.

What inspires you?

I'm inspired to be a good father; I want to give my children what I didn't have growing up.

What do you pray about?

Family and friends, that God eases their pains and helps everyone to find peace in whatever struggles they have right now.

Who should play you if a movie were made about your life?

Gabriel Iglesias, because I'm fluffy and can never take anything seriously.

Talk about your dad.

My dad was funny; everyone seemed to like him. There are a lot of people that still talk about him even now. Seems like he just left an impression on everybody he met.

Talk about your mom.

She is a very strong, hard working woman. She never stops, no matter what obstacle she faces.

Talk about your spouse.

She is great; I wouldn't trade her for anything in the world. I love her smile and her funniness.

Talk about your sibling(s).

I have four brothers. They all work hard and love to have fun. And all of them are uglier than me.

Talk about your children.

They're pains in the butt, but they make me laugh, and they're growing up to be great people. All of my kids have huge hearts and are so smart. I'm a very proud father.

Talk about your pet(s).

I have two bad dogs and one good one, but they're crazy too.

Rattlers reach hoop finals

□ San Jon/Grady won first football championship.

Editor's note: This is one in a series of stories recapping news events in 2016.

QCS STAFF

The third time was the charm for San Jon/Grady, as 2016 was the year it hoisted a state football blue trophy.

The Coyotes edged the Lake Arthur Panthers, 47-46, on Nov. 12 in San Jon to win the school's first six-man state football championship.

A blocked extra point attempt in the final two minutes helped secure the win.

This was San Jon/Grady's third time in a state-championship game, losing the previous two. It is the first title in the program's history, which began in 2005.

A failed fourth-down conversion attempt by the Panthers (6-5) late in the game turned the ball over on downs to the Coyotes. San Jon, 9-0, then just had to run out the clock for the victory.

In other sports news:

■ The Tucumcari Rattlers wrestling team ended its season with four of 11 state competitors placing fifth at the 3-4A state wrestling tournament on Feb. 20 and Feb. 21 at Rio Rancho.

Placing fifth for the Rattlers at state were Rod Dunlap, 120 pounds; Elias Ortiz, 138 pounds; Antonio Norton Jr., 220 pounds; and Isaiah Valverde, 285 pounds.

■ The Tucumcari Rattlers (21-6) lost in the championship of the 3A state basketball tournament 77-52 on March 12 to the Texico Wolverines (22-5). The Rattlers, who ousted top-seeded Lordsburg 79-66 behind 34 from John Paul Garcia, were the District 5 3A champions.

■ The Logan Longhorns (11-16) lost in the first round of the 2016 2A state basketball tournament 69-61 on March 5 to the Mesa Vista Trojans (16-13).

■ The San Jon Coyotes (12-13) lost in the first round of the 2016 1A state tournament 76-52 on March 5 to Vaughn Eagles (23-6).

■ The Tucumcari Lady

Rattlers (18-8) lost in the quarterfinals of the 3A state basketball tournament 70-38 on March 8 to the Texico Lady Wolverines (24-4). The Lady Rattlers were the District 5 3A champions.

The Logan Lady Longhorns (23-8) lost in the championship of the 2A state basketball tournament on March 11 to the Melrose Lady Buffaloes (21-9). The Lady Longhorns were the District 6 2A champions.

■ Coaches, players and managers of Quay County high school basketball teams competing in the 1A, 2A and 3A state tournaments received honors on April 28 at the Tucumcari Elks Club.

The Tucumcari Rattlers, Lady Rattlers, Logan Longhorns, Lady Longhorns and San Jon Coyotes were recognized.

■ A Mesalands Community College rodeo team member competed in the team roping event at the 2016 College National Finals Rodeo in Casper, Wyoming, finishing 14th in the nation.

Kyle Jurney of Eunice competed at the CNFR with Bobby Flores (heeler) from Cochise on June 12-18 at the Casper Event Center.

Jurney and Flores had never competed together prior to the college finals, said Mesalands rodeo coach Tim Abbott.

Abbott said their situation was unique, and they made the best of it. The team ropers were sitting in sixth place halfway through the competition. After that, they had a little trouble in the event, which brought them to 14th in the nation in the team roping.

■ The Tucumcari Lady Rattlers Cross Country Team placed third on Oct. 15 at the district competition at Laguna Aroma. The Lady Rattlers' third-place finish qualified them as a team to compete at the 3A state championship on Nov. 15 at Rio Rancho.

■ Three former Quay County residents were

Campbell, Stephens and Villanueva were among 70 nominees.

The new members were announced in December with none of the three former residents being inducted into the hall.

FISHING REPORT

Compiled by Department of Game and Fish

The fishing report has been generated from the best information available from Department of Game and Fish officers and anglers. Conditions encountered after the report is compiled may differ, however, as stream, lake and weather conditions alter fish and angler activities.

Area

Blue Hole Park Pond: Fishing was good using PowerBait, worms and salmon eggs for trout. We had no other reports.

Oasis Park Lake: Fishing was fair to good using Kastmasters and homemade dough bait for trout.

Ute Lake: Fishing for walleye was fair for the few anglers who braved the weather this past week. They were using jig and minnow and jig and grub rigs at 40 to 45 feet on the deep flats. We had no other reports.

Extended

Northwest

Animas River: Water flow near Aztec on Monday morning was 293 cfs. Fishing was fair to good using San Juan worms, PowerBait and salmon eggs for trout.

Albuquerque Area

Drains: Trout fishing was good using copper John Barrs, San Juan worms, PowerBait, salmon eggs, worms under a bobber and wax worms. We had good reports from the Albuquerque Drain (South), Belen Drain, Corrales Drain and Peralta Drain.

Bluewater Lake: Closed to ice fishing and boating due to thin and unsafe ice conditions. For updates, contact the State Park office at (505) 876-2391.

Chama River: Monday morning water flows below El Vado and Abiquiu were 166 cfs and 244 cfs respectively. Fishing below El Vado was fair to good using Rapalas for brown trout. We had no other reports. Fishing below Abiquiu was good using copper John Barrs, wooly bugs, PowerBait and salmon eggs for rainbow trout.

Heron Lake: Bank fishing was fair using corn and salmon eggs for rainbow trout. The best reports came for anglers fishing near the dam and in the La Laja boat ramp area.

Jemez Waters: Stream flow on the Jemez River near Jemez Springs on Monday morning was 31 cfs. Fishing on the Jemez was fair to good using salmon eggs for trout. We had no reports from other streams in the area.

Navajo Lake: Fishing for smallmouth bass was slow with just a few caught by anglers using jigs and spoons. Trolling for brown trout was slow to fair using Rapalas. A few northern pike were caught by anglers using swim baits. We had no other reports.

Fishing pressure was light.

San Juan River: Stream flow from Navajo Reservoir on Monday was 353 cfs.

Fishing through the Quality Waters was good using foam emergers, dead chickens, red annelids, RS2s, Griffith's gnats and small bead-head pheasant tail nymphs. Fishing through the bait waters was good using worms, PowerBait, San Juan worms and wooly worms.

Tingley Beach: Fishing at the Central and Youth ponds was good using wax worms, PowerBait, San Juan worms, egg patterns, spinners and Kastmasters for rainbow trout.

Fishing at the Bob Gerding Catch and Release Pond was good using small midge patterns, San Juan worms, Griffith's gnats and small leech patterns.

Northeast

Pecos River: Trout fishing in the Villanueva area was good using salmon eggs and PowerBait.

Rio Grande: Stream flow on Monday at the Taos Junction Bridge was 498 cfs. Fishing was slow to fair using wooly bugs, PowerBait, garlic cheese and salmon eggs for trout. We had no other reports.

Southwest

Alumni Pond: Fishing was good using PowerBait, salmon eggs and small Kastmasters for trout.

Bill Evans Lake: Fishing was good using PowerBait, garlic cheese, egg patterns and salmon eggs for trout. We had no other reports.

Caballo Lake: Fishing was slow for all species. Fishing pressure was very light.

Elephant Butte Lake: Fishing was fair using grubs, jigs and minnows for white bass.

Fishing was fair using Bass Busters, Kastmasters and jigs for largemouth bass and smallmouth bass. We had no other reports.

Escondida Lake: Fishing was fair using PowerBait and garlic cheese for trout. We had no other reports.

Lake Roberts: Fishing was very good using PowerBait, salmon eggs and worms for trout. We had no other reports.

Rio Grande: Stream flow below Elephant Butte Monday morning was 0.46 cfs. Fishing was good using PowerBait and salmon eggs for trout. We had no other reports.

Carlsbad Municipal Lake: Fishing was good using orange and red PowerBait and salmon eggs for trout. We had no other reports.

El Rio Creek: Fishing was good using San Juan worms, PowerBait, salmon eggs and worms for trout. We had no other reports.

Green Meadow Lake: Fishing was good using PowerBait for trout. We had no other reports.

Grindstone Reservoir: Fishing was good using PowerBait, homemade dough bait, meal worms and salmon eggs for trout. We had no other reports.

Lake Van: Fishing was fair using PowerBait, salmon eggs and spoons for trout. We had no other reports.

Pecos River: Stream flow below Sumner Lake on Monday was 22 cfs. Trout fishing was good for anglers using wax worms, PowerBait and salmon eggs. A few catfish were caught by anglers using worms and homemade dough bait. We had no other reports.

Perch Lake: Fishing was fair to good using salmon eggs, homemade dough bait and PowerBait for trout. We had no other reports.

Ruidoso River: Stream flow at Hollywood on Monday was 1.6 cfs. Trout fishing was slow.

Brantley Lake: Anglers are required to catch and release all fish here as high levels of pesticides have been found in some fish. We had no reports from anglers this week.

Carlsbad Municipal Lake: Fishing was good using orange and red PowerBait and salmon eggs for trout. We had no other reports.

Wind to be bigger energy player

THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

ALBUQUERQUE — Energy companies are expected to double the generating capacity of wind farms in eastern New Mexico over the next few years, thanks in part to federal subsidies and improvements in technology.

More than a gigawatt of wind capacity is now under construction or planned in New Mexico, said Jeremy Lewis, head of the energy, conservation and management division at the state Energy, Minerals, and Natural Resources Department.

If all of that comes on line, that would be enough to potentially supply nearly 700,000 homes every year.

"The costs for wind and solar have dropped precipitously, allowing a lot more renewable energy to move onto the grid," Lewis told The Albuquerque Journal. "We'll see a lot more wind energy connected to our economy moving forward."

Still, some question whether the uptick will be temporary since subsidies will be phased out by 2020 and President-elect Donald Trump's incoming administration is expected to pursue fossil-fuel development over renewables.

In New Mexico, the other challenge is the need for more transmission lines, which can add to the cost of new projects.

But at least for the next few years, wind energy will be booming.

"Today's tax credits have brought down the costs to make wind energy very economical," said David Hudson, president of Xcel Energy New Mexico, which serves eastern New Mexico and West Texas through its subsidiary, Southwestern Public Service Co. "It's an opportune time to acquire wind-generated electricity."
